REDUCE WASTE and BRING YOUR OWN

Cities all over the world have instituted zero-waste policies.

Through these initiatives, we have the opportunity to think differently about not only how we handle our garbage, but how it can be reduced or used again as a resource. Our waste is not just stuff to be discarded after we use it; it's part of a bigger cycle of consumption. What we buy is connected to what we throw away. Landfills are filling up. It's more important than ever to take personal responsibility in reducing our overall waste stream so we don't trash our island environments.

Everything you do makes a difference.

Here are some steps you and your family can take to reduce waste that make a big difference:

- Think twice before you buy.
- Refuse single-use items.
- Bring Your Own...Everything! Bags, coffee cups, straws, and more.
- Shop local stores and farmers markets.
- Look for less packaging which can be recycled.
- Switch to reusable items at home, like cloth napkins.
- Reuse jars, containers, and packing materials.
- Shop thrift stores and social media ads
- Keep learning more about reducing waste.
